

Your Story Begins With: good night

good night, and walked out of the house. I walked to the car and parked. I got in and got ready. When I got to the house, I realized I couldn't see the front door. I opened the door and realized the front door was locked. I tried to open it and couldn't because of the chain link. I then had to call a tow truck because they wouldn't take me to the car. A tow truck would take me to the car for free, but it was the
